

23 August 2007

Lowndes and Whincup visit Dexion Head Office

Dexion-supported V8 Supercar champs, Craig Lowndes and Jamie Whincup, took time out for a tour of Dexion Headquarters on the 15th August.

The factory and warehouse tour was a highlight. Tour guide, and head of Operations, Rob Norton, took great pride in showing the boys around the facility and introducing them to his Operations team.

During the tour, Craig and Jamie were particularly fascinated to see how a flat piece of metal goes in one end of a machine and comes out the other as a Keylock or Longspan upright.

All of the teams around the factory and warehouse took time out for a chat and autographs. Jamie and Craig were especially impressed to hear how the Dexion team has been working hard to set new benchmarks for operational excellence, much like Triple Eight Race Engineering who prepare their race cars.

Craig and Jamie also moved into the office to say hello to everyone, and even MD Peter Farmakis and Finance Director Trefor Clayton got into the act! All in all a great time was had by all and now Craig and Jamie know a lot more about what Dexion does.

Lowndes and Whincup

Jamie and Craig were especially impressed to hear how the Dexion team has been working hard to set new benchmarks for operational excellence

